

January 16, 2012

For many years area faith communities have enjoyed church league softball and church league basketball among other church league recreational activities. And yet, in addition to being a seasonal activity there is limited room for enough people to be actively involved.

Now, Decatur Parks and Recreation would like to present Church League Chess, a year-round activity for youth and adults, men and women!

It involves the same concepts as other recreational league play, but it is an on-going activity exercising the mind, in a wholesome environment with no “questionable calls” and anyone can participate at any time! Local faith communities would form their own team to participate with other church teams. Additionally, the formation of a team could meet regularly at a house of worship providing yet another fellowship activity.

An organizational meeting for the Church League Chess will be held at Fort Decatur Recreation Center on Tuesday, January 31, 2012. The Church League Chess will incorporate competition and tournaments throughout the year with trophies, awards, certificates of achievement, and many other incentives!
